

Descriptive Writing - opening of a story name "Arvarantine"

Pain, agony, isolation; This all what Medusa had felt during her time on her island. Her tragic story showed what happened to anyone who dared ~~and~~ to challenge the goddess of beauty Athena. It was a lot for Medusa to take in, it had all changed for her so quickly. All this seemed like a punishment, but what for? Medusa was certain she had done nothing wrong. But none of this mattered now, she knew she couldn't leave as doing so would cause her a greater deal of pain and would make her life harder than what it ~~means~~ already is. She must stay in isolation for her own good.